The festival is also locally termed 'the three games of men'. The games are Mongolian wrestling, horse racing and archery and are held throughout the country. The three games of wrestling, horse racing, and archery had been recorded in the 13rd century book The Secret History of the Mongols. It formally commemorates the 1921 Revolution, when Mongolia declared itself independent of China. Women have started participating in the archery and girls in the horse-racing games, but not in Mongolian wrestling. The biggest festival is held in the Mongolian capital Ulaanbaatar, during the National Holiday from July 10th-July 12th, in the National Sports Stadium. It begins with an elaborate introduction ceremony featuring dancers, athletes, horse riders, and musicians. After the ceremony, the competitions begin. Another popular Naadam activity is the playing of games using shagai, sheep knuckles that serve as game pieces and tokens of both divination and friendship.

Visit the 40 meter / ~133,3 feet Genghis Khan Statue on horseback N/E of the Mongolian capital Ulaanbaatar. Excursion to Gorkhi/Terelj National Park. Seeing grasslands and beautiful vistas. Visit Karakorum and the Erdene Zuu Monastery in the UNESCO World Heritage Orkhon Valley. Visit Lake Ugii, where many migratory birds arrive at certain times of the year due to the abundance of fish. Visit an authentic camel breeding family. See their real nomadic life and ride two humped camels. Walk on sand dunes, experience, and walk and relax in beautifully serene nature. Explore Hustain Nuruu National Park. The Przewalski (takhi) horses is the last species of wild horse left on the planet. We would be pleased to have you join us!

• The Mongolian National Wrestling: This spectacular event takes place in the Central Stadium. There are a total of 512 fighters, of which only one (1) will be the winner, losing the first to touch the ground, except for hands and feet. The wrestlers honor the judges and the public with the eagle dance before to start the round of matches, and the winner also performs the eagle dance after finishing each match. The title of Nachin or Falcón is given to a fighter who wins 5 rounds, Zaan or Elefante is a winner of 7 rounds. The wrestler who wins all 9 rounds becomes the national wrestling champion and is awarded the title of Arslan or Leon. A wrestler, who has been a Lion twice, is honored with the title of Avarga or Champion.

• Archery: Archery competitions had great military importance in the times of the Mongol Empire. The archers line up and shoot arrows at the target which are the hollow balls of fur stacked in a pyramid shape. The target consists of 360 leather rings fixed to the wall 40-50 cm high and 4 long. Men and women shoot 40 and 20 arrows respectively. Judges score a hit shot or a missed shot. If the archer is correct, the judges turn their faces towards the archer with their arms raised and sing the praise song. If the archer is correct, the judges turn their faces towards the archer with their arms raised and sing the praise song. The winner of archery is awarded a title Erkhiiin Mergen Kharvaach, which means Archer of Greater Wisdom.

• Horse races: they take place in the steppes with 1800-2000 horses and a distance between 15 to 30kms. This is a tough test of strength and mastery for riders of different ages, from 3 to 10 years old.

The riders are girls and boys. They are races designed to value the horse and not the rider, if the rider falls and the horse crosses the finish line first, he is the winner. In addition, the riders do not exceed 10 years. In the horse race, more than 1,800 horses, divided into 6 age groups, take part in the races. The horses compete in the 35km distance, and the colts compete in the 15km distance.

• The launch of the taba (shagai in Mongolian): It consists of throwing a bone with the fingers and trying to hit two tabas placed on a board about 10m away. Shagai games are especially popular during Naadam. In the shagai game, the thrown shagai usually lands on one of the following sides: horse, camel, sheep, or goat. A fifth side, empty, is possible on uneven ground. The Mongolians venerate some parts of the bones of animals that are part of their domestic livestock and use them both in their religious rites and in their traditional entertainment and games.

Knuckleball shooting is one of those traditional games, very popular, which is practiced in teams of six to eight members. On a smooth wooden plank, players throw thirty marble tablets – similar to dominoes – against a target made up of ram's paws to get them to fall within the defined target area. While practicing shooting, the players sing traditional melodies and songs typical of this game. Each member of a team has their own game instruments, made by hand, and wears clothing with badges that indicate their classification and merits. The bonds of friendship between the members of a team are unbreakable and the players are guided by rules of conduct based on dignity and mutual respect. The rites, knowledge and skills related to bone shooting, as well as the techniques for manufacturing instruments, accessories and equipment are passed on from masters to apprentices. The shooting of the knucklebones creates a propitious climate so that, learning from each other and helping each other, the players contribute to the success of their respective teams, as well as to their personal development and the general well-being of society. This traditional game brings together people of different origins, stimulates their interaction, fosters respect for others – particularly older people – and reinforces social cohesion. Inscribed in 2014 (9.COM) in the Representative List of the Intangible Cultural Heritage of Humanity.

It was built in 2004. The monument consists of a large pile of stones (a shamanic oboo) carefully assembled into a cone shape, approximately the same size as a tipi, with nine posts protruding from the top. This structure is mounted on a stone and concrete platform and is surrounded by three walls that represent three sections of a circle. The outer sides of these walls feature three colorful mosaics representing three maps, one for each of the empires.

1. First, there was the Xiongnu Empire, a confederation of nomadic tribes that lived on the steppes from about the 3rd century BC. until the 1st century AD.
2. The Turkish Khaganate Empire followed, established by the Göktürks in 682 and lasting only until 744.
3. Finally, and famously, Genghis Khan founded the Mongol Empire of the 13th and 14th centuries.

The iconic place of the Mongol Empire in culture, combined with the shamanic symbolism of the ovoo at the center of the monument, prompts people to leave offerings of vodka, milk, tea, rice and other edible delicacies that inevitably attract birds and some than another herd of goats and sheep passing by. You can also find several animal skulls around the monument, completing the surreal scene. It is no coincidence that the Monument of The Imperial Map is located in Kharkhorin, as this city (then called Karakorum) was the capital of the Mongol Empire under Genghis Khan's successor, Ogedei Khan. The Imperial Map Monument is a great vantage point from which to look out over the city of Kharkhorin and the Orkhon River, and imagine what this collection of dirt roads and low-rise buildings may have looked like in its glory days. Also, today, we will visit to the legendary Erdene zuu (Hundred Treasures) Monastery, the Turtle monument, and the Karakorum museum, to see the relics of the ancient capital of the Mongol Empire. The Erdene Zuu Buddhist Monastery with its 108 stupas and the first Buddhist Lamasery (16th century) was the most important religious seat. Currently it constitutes an impressive sight, with its walls, stupas and temples, occupying an enclosure of 400 square meters, and surrounded by the steppe. The construction was continued by his son 'Ogedei' Khan, after his death. After 40 years, 'Kublai Khan' (grandson of Genghis Khan and host of Marco Polo) moved the capital of the Empire to Beijing (Peking-Yuan dynasty), already invaded. In the year 1792, there were 62 temples left and more than 10,000 Lamas. In the year 1930, the Stalinist purges destroyed most of their temples and the Lamas were banished to die in Siberia. Of its more than one hundred temples, only three have survived to our era, it remains the most outstanding cultural vestige of Mongolia. Accommodation in tourist camp in Gers Standard for 2 persons or more people (according your early request!) in Karakorum. (B)(L)(D)

They were excavated and deciphered by Russian archaeologists in the years 1889-93. Next, departure by embankment (off road) towards Lake Ugi (about 32.3km, 1hr), an appropriate place for birds such as: swans, geese, cranes, ducks, pigeons, storks and other migratory species are cited in this area at the end of April, May and throughout the summer). Lake Ugi is located in the province of Uvurkhngai, where many migratory birds arrive at certain times of the year due to the abundance of fish. July 07, Day 7-Breakfast. Today, we drive further to explore Hustain Nuruu National Park (about 280 km/174 miles, +5hrs drive). The Takhi is the last species of wild horse left on the planet. In 1878, the Polish-born Russian geographer and naturalist Nikolai Mikhailovich Przewalski found a new species of wild horse in Mongolia, known locally as Takhi, and took several foals to European zoos. The only way to prevent the complete extinction of the last species of wild horse was to reintroduce it into the wild. In 1975, the Dutchman Ian Bouman and his wife, and other entities that joined later, created the Foundation for the Conservation and Protection of the Przewalski Horse (FPPPH), with the aim of saving the Takhi from extinction through acclimatization. of the zoo specimens in open field pastures, for later release into the wild. In 1992, the FPPPH brought the first 15 horses to the Hustain Nuruu area in Mongolia, to reintroduce them to their original habitat. Currently, the population of takhi in the wild in Hustai Nuruu National Park reaches 220 individuals. The practice of taming wild animals and then returning them to the wild is truly rare. Visit to a small museum, about the history of the Hustain Nuruu National Park, about the founders, and the reintroduction of the Przewalski or Takhi wild horses in their original habitat. Excursion through the interior of the Hustain Nuruu National Park, exploration and observation of wild horses (*bring binoculars and the drone).
